How much easier would your work life be if administrators, parents, students and your community understood how school nutrition programs work? It could help you recruit and retain staff, feed more students and cut down on frustrating conversations with people that have an inaccurate, distorted view of school meals. This session will share unique stories from cafeteria managers who have successfully engaged stakeholders at their schools, as well as tips to take great photos from your cafeterias to help tell your story.

We hope you'll join us and be part of this growing community of school nutrition leaders. Let's learn together and make school meals something everyone can celebrate!
